

22nd Allotment Garden Award of the City of Vienna: Children's Awards 2019

On Saturday, 12 October 2019, the 22nd Allotment Garden Award of the City of Vienna took place in the Great Hall of the Vienna City Hall. This year's motto "My favourite work in the allotment garden" was again very creatively implemented. The popular children's award honoured the paintings and handicrafts of young allotment gardeners and this year there were numerous great entries again, which were awarded.

Emily and Leonie won the children's community award (up to the age of 14) with a delightful large, self-painted flip-book that shows how seeds and plants grow.

The individual prizes for children up to the age of 14 were awarded to Lorenz, Florian and Anna.

Lorenz has designed a picture work on green construction paper, which shows how the pond becomes an oasis after the winter.

Florian has designed a great apricot tree out of paper with lots of round fruit, because his favourite work in the allotment garden is harvesting the fruit.

Anna's favourite job in the allotment garden is to take care of the vegetable patch. So, she made a large, colourful bed full of carrots, radishes and other vegetables - protected by snails.

Luca, Phillip and Kathleen won the children's award up to the age of 6 with their drawings of what they prefer to do in the allotment garden.

Luca's drawing shows what he prefers to do in the allotment garden in summer. He likes to play in the sandbox and refresh himself with water games if it's hot outside.

Phillip loves scrounging raspberries, strawberries and carrots, which is why he has made this his favourite theme, as the drawing shows.

Kathleen has drawn that she prefers to be with her grandma in her allotment garden and to observe all the animals that can be found here: Butterflies, ladybirds, cats... - enjoying at the same time the beautiful flowers.

For their creative submissions, the children received a certificate, zoo cards, a drawing pad and watercolour pencils.

We congratulate all little winners and look forward to the creations of our youngest next year!
