

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF ALLOTMENT & LEISURE GARDENERS AT THE EDIBLE GARDEN SHOW!
18-20 March 2011

The ultimate grow your own event

The National Society of Allotment and Leisure Gardeners (NSALG) will be attending the Edible Garden Show. We represent allotments and allotment gardens nationwide; providing membership to individuals, societies, schools and local authorities. We are sponsoring the Potting Shed which is located in the centre of the arena – so why not come and pay us a visit?

We can answer your queries on allotments ranging from the benefits of joining the NSALG to how to set up an allotment. You can also discover the best way to run an allotment association and become acquainted with insurance issues. Furthermore, you will have the opportunity to talk to our legal advisor on Sunday.

We will be giving away leaflets which can majorly help allotment holders. We will also be promoting our recently launched website so that you can get the best use out of it!

Additionally, there will be a guest garden for you to view and this will give you an extraordinary insight into what you can grow in your own allotment.

We look forward to meeting you at this event – don't forget to keep your diaries free for the Edible Garden Show
