

The International Office du Coin de Terre et des Jardins familiaux delegates met in Luxembourg

The national delegates met in Luxembourg on February 23rd and 24th, 2018 for their annual statutory general assembly.

In addition to the statutory missions, the conclusions from the study session in Copenhagen were drawn. The cornerstones for a greater internal and external efficiency of our work were fixed.

The Norwegian federation presented its activities, successes and problems in a very interesting PowerPoint. All the other federations informed on their activities.

This exchange brought interesting insights and gave – according to what was needed – stimulations for national activities and international discussions.

A working group discussed the topic “competition between green organizations” and gave suggestions to better position our movement in future in the “urban gardening landscape”.

A special Hyphen on the topic urban gardening will be published and a working group is charged to work out a specific strategy.

The Office and the affiliated federations decided to also take part in the week without pesticides in 2018 and to publish a memorandum on the Office homepage, the national homepages as well as in the national allotment magazines.

The delegates will meet again in Kortrijk (Belgium) on coming 22nd August during their study session

The next statutory general assembly will take place in Luxembourg on March 8th and 9th, 2019.
